Kirti Nagar, New Delhi

Designed with intention

Maple doesn't believe in loud luxury. It believes in presence. In the weight of a well-crafted table. In the precision of a clean edge. In the quiet confidence of furniture that doesn't need attention yet commands it. Born from a family's pursuit to build something meaningful, Maple has grown into a brand that shapes modern spaces with intention. Every piece is designed not just to fit, but to belong in space where people live, work, and create. Because true luxury isn't what you show. It's what stays.

DESIGN
SCOPE

DELIVERY
ACROSS INDIA

THE ROOT

Maple's design DNA begins not at the workshop bench, but in a certified teak forest, decades before the piece is commissioned. Every finish, grain, and dimension is a direct translation of material truth: traceable, seasonal, and irreplaceable.

MATERIAL AS VOCABULARY

Seven teak finishes — from Black Espresso to Natural Teak and four precisely selected fabric families give Maple an editorial range without diluting its point of view. Every combination is a design statement, not a catalogue selection; tone, texture, and light speak before function does.

THE HAND

Maple's craft philosophy operates beneath the surface in joints cut before glue is applied, in chisels sharpened to a mirror edge, in foam density chosen per climate. What the client sees is calm, considered luxury; what holds it together is uncompromising technical discipline.

COMMISSION AS AUTHORSHIP

The Maple process is structured around listening, understanding a room's proportions, light, and rhythm before a single dimension is drawn. The client is not a buyer; they are a co-designer. The result is not furniture delivered, but a declaration placed.

Design Concept

Grammar of Material

WOOD & CLOTH.

The two things a home feels first.

Before a piece has a name, it has a material. At Maple, every decision about wood and fabric is made not for the room it will enter, but for the life it will carry. Teak that grew for fifty years. Fabric chosen for how it recovers, not how it photographs.

THE WOOD · SEVEN FACES OF ONE TREE

Black Espresso Deep. Architectural . Absolute.	Dark Mahogany Rich red undertones. Bold and rare.	Coffee Brown Warm depth. The classic of classics.	Dark Walnut Considered. Serious. Timeless.	Mid Walnut Balanced warmth. Universally right.	Honey Brown Golden. Alive. Optimistic.	Natural Teak Closest to the forest. Unfiltered.

THE FABRIC · THE SKIN OF THE PIECE

Suede

VELVET-LEATHER HYBRID

It does not show age, it earns it. A surface that becomes more itself over time.

Leatherite

PRECISION-ENGINEERED

Engineered for Indian homes, built for the long run, not the showroom.

Boucle

LOOPED · TEXTURED · ARTISANAL

Each loop catches light slightly differently. Up close, it is alive. From across a room, it reads as quiet luxury.

Velvet

RICH · DELIBERATE · UNAPOLOGETIC

Chosen for pile density, colour retention, and how it recovers from use.

The 10-Year No-Damage Guarantee

Every Maple piece in teak is guaranteed against damage for a decade and built to outlast it by a generation. True durability is not a promise. It is a construction standard.

THE CRAFT WITHIN

Every Nimbus piece reveals its construction only to those who look closely enough. Hand-joinery. Grain-matched veneers. Upholstery chosen for intelligence, not impulse. The craft is there, it just doesn't announce itself. That restraint is the entire point.

WHY NIMBUS

Clouds drift without effort. They change light without changing shape. They're present without dominating. That's what Nimbus aspires to be in a room — present, transformative, effortless.

PANTONE 2026
Cloud Dancer

NIMBUS

Origin & Philosophy

Every collection begins with a single question. For Nimbus, it was this: what if furniture could feel weightless yet rooted? What if craft could whisper instead of shout? The answer arrived as clouds do, inevitable, understated, already belonging to the sky.

Nimbus emerged watching how people actually live, seeking spaces that breathe, pieces that don't demand attention but reward it endlessly. Not furniture for display. Furniture for the life that happens around it, through it, within it, day after ordinary day.

THE COLOUR LANGUAGE

Nimbus draws from a palette of restraint. Naturals. Charcoals. Whites that breathe. Each colour chosen because it ages gracefully, partners with light, and gets better with time. No trends. No shouting. Just honest colour that serves the wood, not itself.

CLOUD DANCER 2026

Pantone's Colour of the Year speaks to our moment. Cloud Dancer — a soft, grounded grey mirrors Nimbus philosophy perfectly. It's calm without coldness. Contemporary without trend. A colour that lets other materials breathe while holding its own ground. Every piece in Cloud Dancer is made on commission. Built by hands that understand that colour isn't decoration, it's a decision that lives in your home for decades. That's why we choose carefully. That's why Cloud Dancer chose us.

Some corners of a room become yours without asking.
This one does it better.

Every living room has a centre, a place where everything lands.
This is yours.

The noise fades, the room settles, and you finally sit down. This is what you were coming home to.

THE MAPLE PROCESS

STEP 1

CONVERSATION

Every Maple commission begins not with dimensions, but with a conversation. About how you live. How light enters your room. What quiet means to you.

DESIGN

Your brief becomes a drawing. Material, finish, and form are proposed. Nothing moves to craft until it feels right to you.

STEP 2

STEP 3

CRAFT

Built by hand at our Kirti Nagar workshop. Joinery before glue. Grain before finish. Every piece reviewed before it leaves.

DELIVERY

White-glove delivery and placement across India. The piece arrives the way it was imagined — complete.

STEP 4
